GLOVE QUALITY MORE THAN JUST A BOX

In today's competitive market, buyers must assess the true quality of examination gloves. While compliance with IS 15354:2023:Part 1 standards is required, the real value lies in the box. Quality is determined by consistency, weight, and quantity.

A key indicator of glove quality is the AQL (Acceptable Quality Level), with medical gloves ideally having an AQL of 1.5 or lower to minimise defects. This ensures greater protection and reinforces trust in these critical products. Choose wisely-quality gloves truly matter.
